EDILTECO GROUP FLIES TO LONDON AMONG THE BIG AT THE ECOBUILD 2012!

Thanks to the great success of the previous edition, also this year Edilteco Group is first in line to participate to the Ecobuild show, the biggest world's event in sustainable construction and renewable energy. From the 20th to the 22nd of March at the ExCel, the new exhibition center in London, this edition will see as protagonists: chemical companies, companies related to the production of building materials (manufacturing e components), photovoltaic and building software. Large importance will be dedicated to renewable energy, sector which have seen an increased success thanks to the new British Government incentive program. This forthcoming edition will raise worldwide the Italian experience in the field of environmental sustainability, in fact future editions will be hosted in China and India. Edilteco, strong of its more than thirty years experience in sustainable building, is ready for this new adventure!
